

Configuration-driven experimental workflow

From declared runs to paper-ready figures, tables, audits, and validation

Main idea: the notebook is not only a run script; it is an auditable path from data sample to model input, objective, metric, and final paper artifact.